

AGRICULTURAL.

Larger Harvests on Smaller Fields.

Many farmers do not understand how to reduce their fields and increase their harvests. I do not intend to go into a long and laborious scientific exposition of the means and methods required to accomplish this, but propose to give some plain, practical advice to govern the farmer who may determine to adopt, as a rule of action, smaller fields and larger harvests.

1st. Begin by laying off one-half of the land you have usually cultivated and secure it from stock by a good fence. When this is done realize that your great object is to make that half of your farm produce more the first year than the whole did the last year. Now go earnestly and industriously to work to make this result certain.

2d. Gather together in one common mass everything which may help to form a valuable compost. To prevent waste place your material for the compost heap in a ditch dug for the purpose, and into it dump all the scrapings from your wood-yard, stable, cow and sheep lots, and in fact, every other available substance. Keep this up until your ditch is nearly filled, when you should prepare a similar receptacle for the future season's larders. The compost mass should be kept sufficiently moist to promote fermentation; cover it so as to protect it from the sun, and also secure it from the rains.

3d. If you raise cotton to any extent, see to it that all the seed, except those required for the next year's planting, are returned to the soil by which they were produced. Avoid the folly of selling to the oil mill unless you are sufficiently near to substitute the cotton seed meal or cake for the whole seed, and in such quantities as will give you the advantage in the exchange.

4th. Turn over all of the land in the fall which you intend to cultivate the following year, being careful to cover all the vegetable accumulations that are on the surface.

5th. Apply your compost and other fertilizers (if the compost heaps are not sufficient) early in the year so that when the time for planting comes you may put in your seed with the assurance that your land is possessed of more than double the producing power of the last year, and you will be likely to realize a greater harvest from half the land, half the labor and half the expense involved in the production of last year's crop.

6th. Continue to increase the fertility of your land, from year to year, for five years, and at the end of this period you can estimate your farm at $100 per acre, instead of $5 or $10, which was its intrinsic and commercial value when you adopted as a rule of action, "Smaller fields and larger harvests." You may also congratulate yourself that you have increased your harvests at much less labor and expense, having had abundant opportunity to improve your buildings and pay greater attention to your domestic animals, fowls, etc.—Southern Cultivator.

To Raise Heavy Hogs.

The eight-week pigs should be kept in a warm yet well-ventilated pen, and allowed to run out each day for about fifteen minutes. The bedding should be clean wheat straw, changed at least once a day, they should be fed at least three times a day, the food to consist of oatmeal, mince, corn or third, either cooked or stirred with boiling water, covered over and allowed to cool, the pigs also receiving as much new milk (or if this be too expensive, skim milk) as they will drink, a portion of this to be given with the food, the other between feeding time, some 2 oz. of sugar being given to each pig per diem in the milk and food. If the pigs are of the common or restless kind, "Thorley's" little run will cure them of this feeling and cause them to rest and be thankful. Coal cinders or earth should be within reach of the pigs once a day; vegetable food of some kind—mangolds or cooked cabbage—will help to keep them in health. Each pig should have one lb. of sulphur at least once a week given in the food.—Sanders' Spencer in Home and Farm.

Facts are Stubborn Things.

Now here are some of the facts: Since 1865, the people of the United States have sent to the North for meat, bread, vegetables, horses and mules—$300,000,000 for just such things that have been as energetic as people should be, would have raised at home. The State of Georgia alone has sent $100,000,000 to pay for meat which could easily have been raised at home.

Now, if every farmer in the cotton States had raised all he needed, and then enough to sell the people in the cities, all this money would have been kept at home, and what cotton we had would have brought double the money. Had this been done my brothers, do you think that there would have been a cry all over the land about the merchant?

I have said that every man who farms can raise all his family consume. For the reason, who moves from place to place, this may be difficult, but for the man who owns his land, there is no earthly excuse for not having plenty of sweet potatoes and Irish potatoes, peas, beans, carrots, parsnips, celery, turnips and dried fruits; and during the summer he can and should have as many vegetables as his family can consume besides enough to feed one pig for each member in his family and then raise plenty of corn to feed his stock.

Coloring Whitewash for Interior Walls. Please publish directions for coloring whitewash to be applied upon rough plastered interior walls. The special colors desired are pale blue, red, green, light gray, light pink and cream.—R. A. M., Ridgeview, S. C.

ANSWER—Coloring matter may be stirred into whitewash to make any desired shade. Spanish brown will make a red-pink, more or less deep according to quantity used. Finely pulverized common clay mixed with Spanish brown makes a rich red color. Chrome yellow for yellow color, and if small quantity is used, a cream. Use indigo for different shades of blue, and indigo and chrome yellow for green. Green pigments cannot be safely used with lime, as the lime will injure the color and the green will cause the wash to peel off. For different shades of red mix Venetian red and Spanish brown in various proportions. Lampblack will give a pretty gray if used in proper proportions with the whitewash.—Southern Cultivator.

A clover root in the soil is the promise of increased fertility, and no farm ever had too many of them.

Household Recipes.

GINGER CAKE.—One and one-half cups molasses, one-half cup of brown sugar, same of butter and sweet milk, one teaspoon each of soda, ginger, allspice and cinnamon, three cups sifted flour.

FRIED RAW POTATOES.—Pare and thinly slice raw potatoes; let them stand in cold water half an hour; drain in a colander, and fry in melted butter; cover closely, but stir occasionally; season with salt and pepper.

CREAM CAKE.—One cup white sugar, 1½ cups of flour, three eggs beaten separate and very light, two tablespoons water, one teaspoon baking powder. Bake in two cakes. Cream: One pint milk, one cup sugar, one-half cup butter, three eggs, two tablespoons flour, lemon extract. Cut each cake and fill with the cream.

CUP PUDDING.—Break an egg in a coffee-cup and beat thoroughly, then add one tablespoon of flour and a pinch of salt; pour on milk until the cup is nearly full, then beat again and place in oven and bake twenty minutes. Eat while it is hot, with a sauce made with the whites of eggs and sugar beaten together till stiff.

FRUIT CAKE.—Eight cups of flour, six cups sugar, three cups butter, two cups milk (collander preferred), twelve eggs, four teaspoonsful soda, two pounds seeded raisins, two pounds of currants, half pound thinly sliced citron, flour the raisins to prevent them from settling. Flavor with cloves, allspice, cinnamon, ginger and nutmeg, salt to taste; bake four hours. Mix sugar and butter and beat to light cream, then add milk and yolks of eggs then the spices, and lastly the whites and fruits.

CORN BREAD.—Mix together thoroughly by putting through a sieve or other wire one pound of Indian meal and 1½ pounds of wheat flour, two ounces of baking powder and a tablespoonful of salt; then beat together three ounces of sugar, three ounces of butter and four eggs; add this to the flour and make a stiff batter, using warm milk in winter and cold in summer; bake in small tins.

ROLLS.—One quart of flour, two ounces butter well rubbed together, one well beaten egg, a little salt, two teaspoons baking powder well dissolved, and as much milk as required to make a stiff batter; beat it well, set to rise; when light, roll out thin, cut into gems, brush edges with melted butter, fold them over, place in pans separated a little; let them stand awhile to rise again, and bake.

GOOD YEAST.—Take six large potatoes, boil in two quarts of water, take a handful of hops, tie in a cloth, in the potato water; when cool add half-cup of sugar, half-cup of salt and tablespoonful of ginger, one yeast cake; let it get frothy; bottle it. It will keep for six months.

KICKING COWS.—The most convenient, the best and most effective remedy that I have tried is the use of a plow line or cord drawn tight around the body, forward of the udder, which prevents the cow from arching her back, consequently she cannot lift her foot to kick. The same may be accomplished by a person pressing on the cow's spine, or by pinching the hide up over the spine. The method of using the plow line is as follows: Take a common round plow line and double it; then pass it around the body of the cow forward of the udder. Bring the ends through a loop, draw the cord tight, and make a slip-knot to hold it. I have had cows that, after using this device on them, could be milked for a while by simply laying the cord over their backs.—American Cultivator.

DIVERSIFY YOUR CROPS.—Mr. John S. Hopper, living on poor land, has tried to follow advice to diversify his crops. He made this year 500 bushels (41 wagon loads) corn, 200 bushels oats, 150 bushels of wheat, 150 bushels potatoes, 65 bushels rice, 15 bushels peas, 135 gallons good sorghum and six bales cotton. Let our cotton farmers learn a lesson and try to cease putting all their eggs in one basket. Mr. Hopper, it is almost unnecessary to state, did not give a mortgage and his crop did not belong to a merchant for supplies. He raises his own hog and hominy at home and is out of debt, this many of our Cleveland farmers cannot say.—Shelby Aurora.
